ELECTIONS of all kinds are over now let's settle down to business and be good friends.

FRIDAY was the longest day in the year. If the day could have been longer the wet vote would have been larger.

JUDGE John F. Phillips, of the Kansas City Court of Appeals, has been appointed to succeed Judge Krekel, resigned.

REV. DR. VINCE published a card declining to be a delegate to the Prohibition State Convention.
He says he is opposed to a third party.

GEN. SHERIDAN has been getting better ever since the Democratic National Convention passed a resolution expressing hope for his recovery.

GREAT excitement has been caused by the discovery of gold in Michigan. It is also rumored that Michigan gold has been found in Chicago in large quantities.

THERE were eight close States in 1884 as follows:

For Illinois: 1,616 New York, 1,319 Oregon, 2,236 Connecticut, 1,217 Michigan, 3,328 New Jersey, 4,219 California, 12,259 Indiana, 6,312

VANDALIA has organized an enthusiastic Democratic club with D. Ely president and Cash Blackburn secretary. It will be known as the Vest Democratic Club, and will be ready at once for active campaign work.

PROF. D. A. McMillan, of Mexico, has been elected conductor of the Teachers Institute to be held at Pilot Grove, Cooper county, beginning July 30th, and continuing three weeks. No better selection could have been made.

THE result of the vote on Local Option in Mexico is not a victory for whisky. It simply means that the citizens of Mexico, by a vote of 2 to 1, favor high license over free alcohol. They favor its sale over a licensed bar to a blind tiger.
They are satisfied with Mexico and do not want a "Macon City."

FOR the first time in many years the odds are against the Republican party, and its leaders perceive that they must proceed with unusual caution and sagacity. The ons of showing to the people that a change is desirable is now upon them. The Democrats are in possession, and that counts for much in an election. Hence the problem at Chicago is not to choose the fittest but the strongest candidate.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.
Whatever may be his fate as a Presidential candidate, Chauncey Depew's standard of success in life and his rule for achieving it are worthy the attention of the young.

Speaking to the graduating class of Syracuse Medical College, on his way to Chicago, Mr. Depew said that he had "no faith in mottoes or maxims for success in life." But he immediately condensed a great deal of wisdom into the saying: "When a young man is sure that he has found the calling best suited to his abilities and training these rules will invariably carry him through—Stick, Dig, Save."

This is substantially the same admonition which another man of the world repeats with much earnestness to young lads whom he wishes to see start right: "Stick to one thing; spend less than you earn."

Improvvidence is the besetting American vice. No other civilized nation in the world has so large a proportion of men, young and old, who live up to or beyond their income. In no other country does the versatility of the people and the wide range of opportunity conduce to such frequent changes in vocation as are seen here. Our people are not lacking in "dig." We are, as a race, great workers.
But our restlessness and ambition to get on rapidly lead to frequent changes, and the saving habit is not so characteristic as the spending habit.

For the mere amassing of wealth Hamerton is right in saying that "the instinct of accumulation is worth all the rules in the word." But Mr. Depew's "Stick, Dig, Save" is a good rule, nevertheless.

The Intelligencer has an anonymous correspondent at Hatton, Mo., whose business it is to be-smirch the character of George G.
Vest, D. R. Francis and other leading Democrats throughout the United States who do not belong to our contemporary. Its cub who signs himself "Jennie June," does the dirty work from ambush. The following is his latest effusion:

"A reputable citizen of Auxvasse informed your correspondent that just before the election in Montgomery county Mr. Francis walked into a saloon in Wellsville, gave the saloon keeper $10 for his own use, then handed him $100 and told him to put it where it would do the most good."—"Jennie June," in Mexico Intelligencer, June 22d.

There is no doubt but what the above is without any foundation.
D. R. Francis is not a fool. Name your "reputable citizen!" Name him! Name yourself! Francis should be made to stand upon such a record or dirty dogs who would circulate such reports should be kicked out of a decent community.
Now name him or slink off like a cowardly cur.

Campbell-Donaldson.
Married, at the residence of the bride in Fulton at 11 a. m., yesterday by Rev. Father Dempsey, of this city, Mr. Thomas J. Campbell, of Mexico, and Miss Lizzie Donaldson. Mr. Ed. W. Clark and Miss Josie Cudworth, of this city, were the attendants. After a reception the happy couple returned to this city on the afternoon Fulton accommodation. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will reside in South Mexico. Those present from this city were: Miss Tillie Kunkel, Miss Josie Cudworth, Mr. E. W.
Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pratt.
The presents were as follows:

Set of knives and forks, Emma and Henry Baker; glass set, Arnold Baker and wife; chair, Mrs. J. C.
Murphy; berry bowl, Mrs. C. A.
Baker; card receiver, Ellen Kite; pickle dish, Mable Baker; china set, J. E. Baker and mother; glass water set, Henry Frank; bridal cake, Willie Becker; spoon holder, John Murphy; parlor lamp, Mr. and Mrs. Crow; water pitcher, Minnie Baker; cream dishes, Anna Seifker; berry bowl, Mrs. Wm.
Simmons; glass caster, Philip Baker; pickle dish, Chas. Murphy; china tea set, Spicer, Smith & Co.; linen towels, Mr. and Mrs. Daschel; counterpane, Mr. and Mrs. Max Keller; glass set, Geo. Schiffer; 1-2 dozen napkins, bride's mother; silver caster, Mr. and Mrs. Chas.
Landmann; sugar bowl and breast pin for groom and crocheted needles for bride, John Baker; eight-day clock, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Barnes; silver butter dish, Mr. and Mrs.
Joe Pratt; handsome photograph album, Misses Tillie Kunkel and Josie Cudworth; Lord's prayer framed, Mr. and Mrs. Fichtmaster; silver pickle caster, Ed. W. Clark; fancy table set, Mr. and Mrs. J. L.
Campbell; cake stand, Misses Mary and Lizzie Pedegast.

The LEDGER extends congratulations.

Anti-Vest Combination.
From the Boonville Advertiser.

There is no concealing the fact further that Gov. A. P. Morehouse is associated with the Kansas City Times. Dr. Munford, Congressman Barnes, John O'Day and John M. Glover, in the scheme to defeat Vest for the United States Senate.
Those who have watched Morehouse in Boone and Audrain counties especially, are satisfied that his nomination for Governor would be inimical to Senator Vest.

The friends of Senator Vest in Cooper county should give the matter their most careful attention. John O'Day is worth his million dollars, is a man of brains, is a thorough politician, and he is now after Vest's scalp, backed by a most formidable ring. He would spend a quarter of a million dollars to get it. He is already engaged in nominating candidates for Senator in the different districts throughout the State who are opposed to Vest.
In Audrain county, one of Vest's strongholds, the Kansas City Times claims both Vest and Francis were floored. Let our people be on the alert. A vote for Morehouse is that much power given him with which to make a formidable fight on Vest. A vote for Dave Francis is a vote for Vest's personal friend.

Slipped From a Horse.
Miss Ida Myers, a young lady whose home is in Washington, D.
C., and who has been the guest of Colonel and Mrs. Green Clay for some time, slipped from her horse while riding on the Boulevard Wednesday and sustained serious injuries. One of her wrists is dislocated and a collar bone broken, besides an injury on the head. Miss Myers was at once taken to the home of Col. Clay, where she is now resting easily.

Won't Work.
From the Liberty Advocate.

If you will look over the list, you will find that every paper in Missouri that is supporting Francis for Governor, is solid for the return of George G. Vest to the United States Senate, and vice versa.

"Straws show which way the wind blows." The anti-Vest combination won't work.

The Majority Should Rule.
From the Vandalia Leader.

Delegates to the Congressional convention should remember that the field must combine to beat Robinson, whereas three votes from any other candidate will nominate him.

Miss Rose Hite is the guest of Centralia friends.

"Tell the Truth."
Gov. Morehouse was furnished with one ticket to the National Convention. Mr. Francis had hundreds. The Governor of the State was denied the courtesy of a few extra tickets for his friends, while every striker for his opponent could count them by the dozens.
This sort of conduct may help Mr.
Francis among the politicians, but it will not specially strengthen him with that great mass of Democratic votes who love fair play.—Mexico Intelligencer.

That's another contemptible campaign lie. Francis did not have the tickets at his disposal, but they were in the hands of National Committee. The editor of the Guard and Bob White tried to get tickets for personal friends but did not succeed. If Francis gave tickets to any of his friends he bought them and paid for them out of his own pocket; and we have seen learned Gov. Morehouse had the same opportunity, for tickets were on sale, as is well known. We don't see why Morehouse should not be entitled "the courtesy of a few extra tickets" to distribute around free of charge for campaign purposes, when his opponent paid cash for what few he gave to personal friends. Cook probably couldn't get a ticket and wants to blame Francis because he did not furnish Morehouse with one for his special benefit. The truth of the matter is this: Mayor Francis secured one of the best seats on the platform and called around to the Laclede Hotel with his buggy to take Gov. Morehouse to the Convention, but he was too much and boorish to accept this courtesy, which was tendered him in all kindness, and as a mark of honor to his position as Governor of the State. We understand Mayor Francis has always treated the Governor as a guest whenever he visits St. Louis, and it is in bad taste for his mud slingers to cast sturs at Mayor Francis, who has at all times and under all circumstances proven himself to be a gentleman and shown every possible courtesy to his opponents.—Centralia Guard.

For Wets and Drys.
If the early cucumber is ever cramped for space it makes its wants felt.

The dressmaker, like the suburban farmer, makes money on the out-skirts.

When a barber cuts a slice off your neck you feel like getting up and lathering him.

According to our experience it takes longer to run down a hen than it does to run down a mountain.

Strange it is that when the rain comes down in sheets no one ever cares to wait to wrap himself up in them.

Commencements are coming with hot weather, when graduates and their moneters take their degrees.

Crows which are shot while committing depredations on farms might appropriately be termed martyrs to their cause.

"A lie grows as it travels." A fisherman's lie is an exception.

It is the fish that grows, and the lie is cut, basted and sewed to suit the size of the fish.

Wise Olive.
Olive Logan, who knows how it is herself, gives this advice to young ladies: "A woman's safeguard is to keep a man's hands off her. If you need his assistance in walking take his arm instead of him taking yours. Just tell him in plain English to keep 'hands off.' He may not like it at first, but he will respect you in the future tenfold more. Men will be and do just what the women allow them to do.
Men will not do to trust. Give a man your arm and you will find him very confidential, and he will take a great many privileges he would not take if he was not permitted to do so. He will give you arm many loving squeezes and ely-twists that he could not otherwise have an opportunity of doing, and the opportunity is just what he is after. A few more words of advice.
Keep your girls off the street except when they have business.
Teach them it is unnecessary to go to the postoffice every time they go out. Your girls can walk alone just as well as your boys. Don't allow your girls, if they must have a bean, to go with a boy much older than themselves. If possible, instill into their very nature that they are not safe in the hands of any men—preachers not excepted.

Suicide in Monroe County.
PARIS, Mo., June 20.—T. R.
Hardesty, a farmer living two or three miles south of Monroe City, in this county, committed suicide this evening by hanging himself while laboring in a field. The coroner is now holding an inquest.

Cattle vs. Wool.
To Editor of the Ledger.

MEXICO, Mo., June 22.—The attempt to convince cattle raisers that their interest lies in paying duty, bonus, bounty, blackmail or tribute in any shape to the wool interest is pretty badly mixed in spite of the promise to adhere to facts.

Facts are stubborn things and will not march to the call of Mr.
Hathaway's bugle. If he will venture on an itemized statement of either of the lumped items going to make up the $150,000,000 imported in 1887, so confident am I that a large proportion will appear as what the farmer consumes and not what he sells, that Mr. Hathaway failing, I promise to hunt them up for the benefit of my side of this controversy. They should have been presented at once, if within reach. In the meantime, like Mr. Hathaway, fearing that some may be misled, please quote these extracts from Secretary Manning's report sent to Congress in December, 1886: "While our war tariff rates, prolonged after twenty years of peace, have been choking off our manufacturers from successful competition in foreign markets with the products of nations who do not tax raw material, we have deemed foreign markets for the surplus product of our farms as sure as seed time and harvest. Our command of them we have deemed unassailable. They are in peril." "It is actually the war rates of the war tariff of the last generation under which we are now living. The Moral tariff of 1859 to 1861 was 18.84 percent; war tariff of 1862 to 1864 48.35 percent, and present tariff 46.07 percent." Now, as to the show farmers get of this protection, granting all that Mr. Hathaway claims, and any one who has read his article will see that the average farmer does not profit by duties laid on flax, hemp, sugar, rice, tobacco, etc., for he is a consumer.
Still, without these exceptions the exports were $666,000,000, four and one-half times as much. The farmer is asked to submit to this trade, of which 86 percent is his product and only 14 percent manufacturers', in order that the manufacturers shall have home trade; and in the meantime European trade, both English and continental, is seeking and finding other parts of the globe that will exchange wheat and beef for what they have to dispose of, and American farmers are forbidden to take, under penalty of a fine of 46 per cent, for the privilege of landing in a free country. Free, indeed, for monopolists and schemers, and oppressive and tyrannical to the toilers.
In these days, when money measures everything, even the ability to conduct war and the great military nation of Europe is kept at peace simply by poverty. Farmers must wake up to the fact that they are furnishing, not receiving, protection; that the money is being drained from them and that the manufacturing States are holding mortgages on the Western and agricultural States; and I repeat, that they are very stupid if they don't think of this matter carefully and refuse to be persuaded to submit to exactions for benefit of any class or section—by the way, it was the exceptional, not the average farmer that was first called stupid. Mr.
Hathaway gives the lie to the stump orators, but I must accept the situation and repeat after them, most positively, that there is no over-production of cattle; and until Mr. H. shows some stronger figures countervailing the same, I do not fear reasonable men being frightened out of the business because the calves are gaining a little on the babies. Not at all doubting the welcome that the babies receive, I venture the assertion that not a farmer will be willing to take care of ten times as many calves as babies and not feel crowded either.

The low price of cattle can be accounted for otherwise, and it is good logic that having found a sufficient reason there is no need to look for a second. Cattle prices are depressed, first, by our inability to trade with those who want them, except under the 46 per cent. disadvantage; second, by the collapse of ranch speculation with borrowed money. The capitalists closed in on the men who did the work and forced them into market in bad condition and in much larger quantities than is usual; and other capitalists, although Mr. H. says it is absurd, are buying and holding for a rise which seems about to take place, now that speculators own the beef.
Laws that interfere with trade do permit such operations in beef, coal, oil or anything else. Indeed Mr. Hathaway suggested combinations to the farmers and yet says it is absurd to suppose that a few men with more money can do the same thing. He is much mistaken if he hopes to persuade men who have seen Jay Gould obtain control of the commerce of a continent that it is absurd to suppose that one will

percent; war tariff of 1862 to 1864
48.35 percent, and present tariff
show farmers get of this protection,
laid on flax, hemp, sugar, rice, to-
product and only 14 percent manufacturers', in order that the manufacturers shall have home trade;
and in the meantime European
change wheat and beef for what
can farmers are forbidden to take,
pressive and tyrannical to the toilers.
tary nation of Europe is kept at
manufacturing States are holding
mortgages on the Western and agricultural States; and I repeat, that
exceptional, not the average farmer that was first called stupid. Mr.
the situation and repeat after them,
Mr. H. shows some stronger fig-
ed either.

collapse of ranch speculation with
usual; and other capitalists, although Mr. H. says it is absurd,
which seems about to take place,
now that speculators own the beef.
permit such operations in beef,
coal, oil or anything else. Indeed
Mr. Hathaway suggested combina-

or a few wills cannot handle large sums of money with greater force and effect than the scattered millions who don't have time for anything but hard work.

We, for I am still a farmer at heart, and with no hope of gain except by sharing in the prosperity of my former associates, are still charitable and willing to subscribe for the benefit of the really needy, but are convinced that it is time that it should be done of our own volition, and not take from us by law for the benefit of those whom we believe more prosperous than ourselves. We hold with Mr. Manning when he says: "I respectfully recommend to Congress that they confer upon the wage earners" (farmers are such and dependent upon the elements for pay) "of the United States the boon of untaxed clothing and in order thereby the immediate passage of an act simply placing raw wool upon the free list. Of course a repeal of the duty on wool should be followed but need not wait for a compensating adjustment of the duties on manufactured wools. The common daily clothing of the American people need not be taxed; ought not to be taxed. To free their clothing of taxes will finally reduce by half their expense for one of the three great necessities of life and thus enlarge honestly and justly the income of every wage earner in the United States" to any man who has to have old flannel shirts patched and repatched. Mr.
Manning's arguments will outweigh any question as to proportion of calves and babies.

Circuit Court.
Considerable business was disposed of in the Circuit Court Friday. The case of John Rodgers, the Montgomery county murderer, was continued on defendant's application. Eva Meadows, a colored girl, was acquitted of theft by a jury. Frank Moydel's case was continued until October term and defendant required to give $500 bond. The remainder of the proceedings were as follows:

A. K. Vance vs. M. D. Mc-Nama, judgment for plaintiff.
Martha Cluster vs. Cicero Cluster, continued.

J. E. Haynor & Co. vs. M. W.
Owens et al., continued.

J. K. Butler vs. Roll
